

GRADING WORK WELL ADVANCED

Construction of the Beloit, Delavan Lake & Janesville Road Is Rapid.

READY FOR RAILS

The Bridge and Trestle Work Is Well Up with the Grading.

TRAINS IN THE SPRING

Michael Hayes of the firm of Hayes Brothers who are doing the grading on the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville electric line was in the city today and reports the work as being well advanced. The strip from Rockford to Beloit is practically completed and about one-third of the grading between this city and Beloit is finished.

Ready for Rails Soon
Mr. Hayes thinks that there is no question but what the entire line will be ready for the ties and rails before winter sets in.

Contractor John Peters, who is putting in the bridges and trestles has his work all finished between Beloit and Rockford with the exception of two small bridges near Beloit, and these will be in place in a few days. Mr. Peters is an old hand at the business and knows how to hustle the work.

The walls of the large power house at Beloit are almost finished and the roof will be in place in a week or two. The building will be first-class in every respect and will be an ornament to Beloit.

New Line From Milwaukee
In speaking of the line from Milwaukee to this city of which a survey is now being made, by the surveyors, who have been working between this city and Janesville for the last few days, Mr. Hayes said, that it would be an electric line. The proposed line would not follow the highways but runs through the fields in an air line. From Milwaukee to Elkhorn the line follows the grade established for a railroad from Milwaukee to Elkhorn as early as 1848 and was abandoned by the promoters.

Mr. Hayes drove over forty miles of this line last week and made an estimate for doing the grading necessary to put it in shape for the new line. The farmers through the section of the country crossed by the proposed line are pleased with the prospect of having a road that will give them the advantages offered by the electric roads.

Johnstown People Jubilant
At Johnstown the people are jubilant over the prospect of having a line that will connect them with the outside world and hope the road will materialize.

Mr. Hayes said that there was very little doubt but that the line would be built as it was practically settled between Milwaukee and Elkhorn.

No application for a franchise has yet been made in this city. Probably nothing will be done in this matter until the survey is completed and a report made to the promoters.

LEMLY SAYS HE HAS NO MALICE

He Conducted the Inquiry According With Instructions From Navy Department.

Washington, Nov. 7.—When the Schley court of inquiry met at two o'clock this afternoon Judge Advocate Lemly began the closing argument in the case elucidating the testimony from the standpoint of the department. He stated that he had endeavored to follow the secretary of the navy without fear.

Early in the proceedings of the court he had remarked that it was not a trial by the newspapers yet he could not help noting that they had put the department and himself on trial. He claimed the department maintained an entirely neutral attitude and that there had been no alteration of the records.

Concerning the trip from Key West to Cienfuegos Lemly maintained that Schley should have made better time in order to carry out the spirit of the department's instructions. As to McCalla's signal within the insurgents' line he asked if it were not incumbent upon the commodore himself even if he had not been informed. On meeting the Marblehead Schley should have ordered McCalla to report aboard the flagship.

Lemly sarcastically referred to Schley's voyage from Cienfuegos to Santiago which he was ordered to make quickly and cautiously. The word "cautiously" did not weaken the words "with all dispatch." The urgency was so great that Schley would have been justified in dropping the Eagle, Vixen and Collier.

Then followed an exhaustive analysis of the coal situation of the fighting ships. The retrograde movement was brought forth in Lemly's belief that Schley alone was responsible, notwithstanding Sigbee's alleged statement that the Spaniards were not at Santiago, but it was Schley's duty to ascertain to a certainty. Lemly said he never doubted that the Brooklyn as a ship did conspicuous service in the battle of Santiago, but it was a captain's fight. There was no concerted action. Responsibility for the loss rested with Schley. It was a tremendous risk.

E. S. STOKES' WILL FILED.

Late Financier's Cousin Is Made Chief Beneficiary.

New York, Nov. 7.—The will of Edward S. Stokes, who died on Saturday last at the residence of his sister, Mrs. McNutt, was filed in the surrogate's office. The will was executed on Feb. 13, 1891, before Mr. Stokes had the disagreement with his cousin, W. E. D. Stokes, and W. E. D. Stokes is the chief beneficiary under the will. No petition setting forth the value of the property left by Mr. Stokes was filed with the will. Mr. Stokes declares that his entire estate is to be held in trust by his executor, who is to pay legacies of $2,000 to his mother, Nancy Stokes; $2,000 to his brother, Horace, and $2,000 to his sister, Mary J. McNutt. The residuary estate he directs shall be divided between his brother Horace and his sister, Mrs. McNutt, and in case neither of them leaves children, the entire estate is to go to W. E. D. Stokes. Mr. Stokes says in the last clause of the will that he is unmarried and has no children.

HE RISKS $700,000 FOR NEW HEARING

Oberlin M. Carter, the Convicted and Imprisoned Embezzler, Now Seeks Full Vindication.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Seven hundred thousand dollars, his entire fortune, has been put at stake by Oberlin M. Carter, once captain of engineers in the United States army, now a convict at Fort Leavenworth, for the sake of securing a rehearing of the charges against him in a civil tribunal in the hope of vindicating himself and regaining his reputation.

Within a few months he will be on the witness stand either before Judge Kohlsaat or in the United States circuit court in this city, or before a master in chancery appointed by the judge, and when the trial is over he will either regain his fortune and his good name together, or lose them both irremediably.

It is like a titanic wager, this latest development in the famous Carter case, and it comes as a not uninteresting climax to this greatest of army scandals, which involved the charge of a $2,000,000 syndicate, with the government as the victim, and produced a hard fight of year's duration in the army courts.

Since Captain Carter was convicted by court martial in January, 1898, deprived of his rank, fined and sentenced to imprisonment at Fort Leavenworth, the government has been steadily at work endeavoring to get hold of his property, most of which has been in the possession of his brother, Stanton Carter and his uncle, Lorenzo D. Carter. Of the $722,582 which was claimed he had embezzled, almost half a million dollars, it is said, has been located and impounded by federal court proceedings in New York, New Jersey, West Virginia and the southern district of Illinois.

Captain Carter consents to the holding of all his impounded property by the court. He also agrees that all of the rest of his property, held by his relatives, shall likewise be turned over to the court. He agrees that his uncle and brother shall furnish all possible aid to the United States officers in tracing any property that has been disposed of by them. In short he strips himself financially, and abides by the outcome of the hearing.

In return he is given a chance to take the stand in a civil court in his own behalf.

WOMAN HAS RICH BOOTY.

Arrested in St. Louis in Connection with Montana Robbery.

St. Louis, Nov. 7.—The police here have just made another important arrest in connection with the Great Northern express robbery of July 3, near Wagner, Mont., and took a valise containing between $30,000 and $50,000 in notes of the National Bank of Illinois, which are supposed to be a part of the proceeds of that haul. A woman who registered at the Laclede Hotel as "Mrs. Rose" was taken into custody by city detectives and escorted to Chief Desmond's office, where she confessed that she had forged the signatures of officers of the bank to the notes. Beyond that statement the woman would not say a word other than to deny any knowledge of the man named Arnold, whom the police arrested last night in connection with the robbery.

The arrest was made just as "Mrs. Rose" was leaving the hotel. She carried a bag in which was a bunch of $20 bills. This, with her trunk, which was being loaded into an express wagon, is at police headquarters, and the contents are being examined. "Mrs. Rose" did not know how much money the valise contained. When she counted it last she said there was on hand between $30,000 and $50,000. She had spent much money since her arrival in St. Louis.

Mrs. Rose and John Arnold, alias Harvey Logan, alias J. W. Rose, and Mrs. Rose registered at the Laclede hotel Friday. They gave their address as Vicksburg and told the clerk they would probably remain two or three weeks. Mrs. Rose apparently is 25 years old.

COMBINE OF ALL ROADS IS NEAR; ALL THE NORTHWEST INTERESTED

Giant Consolidation Moving Fast Towards a Complete Union—A Settlement Has Been Decided Upon—Northwestern and St. Paul Included.

New York, Nov. 7.—Now that William K. Vanderbilt has returned from Europe, having arrived on the Oceanic this morning, it is expected that the details of the Northern Pacific-Burlington settlement will be made public soon.

One of the leading members of the Harriman syndicate said when asked if the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads were to be included in the Northern Pacific agreement:

All Northwest Interested
"Yes, the plan agreed upon is a far-reaching one, and it aims at complete railroad harmony not only in the Northwest but in the entire transcontinental region. By degrees each interest will be welded into the central controlling body. It will not say that there is to be any radical change of control in any railroad, but there will be a consolidation of interests which will be mutually advantageous. The arrangements to be made will insure a permanent peace in Northwestern and transcontinental traffic affairs."

The most important matter that has been settled thus far is the formation of a new corporation to take over the stocks of the Northern Pacific and perhaps of other companies that may be included in the general plan of harmonizing the railroad interests in the northwest. In this new corporation the Union Pacific interests will have equal representation with the Morgan-Hill interests, and it is intimated that holdings of Chicago & Northwestern and St. Paul stocks will be factors of the new company.

General Plan Understood.
There is unquestionable authority for the statement that the general plan of this Northern Pacific agreement was arranged by E. H. Harriman and President James J. Hill of the Great Northern railway. Mr. Morgan has aided these in an advisory capacity. President Hill submitted his ideas in writing to Mr. Harriman, and after several personal conferences between these two men a mutually satisfactory plan was agreed upon.

It can be stated as a fact that the Union Pacific interests are fully protected by the new scheme. Should there be any retirement of the Northern Pacific stock the present holders will receive an equivalent in Burlington shares. It is not unlikely that the Northern Pacific stock will be practically withdrawn from the investment market. There is little of this stock now held outside of the Harriman and Morgan-Hill interests.

ELECTION RESULTS PLEASE ROOSEVELT

The President is Particularly Delighted Over the Defeat of Tammany in New York.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—President Roosevelt was delighted with the great victory in New York over Tammany and so expressed himself to many public men who called upon him today. He expressed his satisfaction with the general result of the elections yesterday which gave the republicans every Northern state and insured the re-election of Governor Foraker of Ohio. There was the same expression of satisfaction from all the prominent republicans who were at the White House. Both the New York senators were here today and they both talked freely about the defeat of Tammany as the overthrow of a giant organization for corrupt administration. Senator Platt said he was not surprised at the result, as he had been confident that Low would be elected. "I am proud of the work of the republican organization of Greater New York," he said.

50 GAME WARDENS TO WATCH HUNTERS

An Army of Deer Hunters from Other States Invading Wisconsin—Season Opens Monday.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—(Special)—The army of deer hunters from other states who are coming to Wisconsin after game increases every day. Yesterday State Game Warden Overbeck received 28 applications for deer licenses from non-residents, the fees amounting to $700 for the one day. Three applications came from Pittsburg a day or two ago.

Fifty deputy game wardens are now scattered over the state looking after illegal hunters. Eleven of these are serving without pay, being sportsmen who secured commissions in order to have authority to arrest violators of the game laws.

HARD WORK FOR THE VARSITY BOYS

Practice Games From Now on Will Be Aimed to Perfect Them in Art of Defense.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—As the Badger football men are still feeling the effects of Saturday's hard game, Coach King decided to give them another day of easy work before starting in good earnest to round them into shape for the Minnesota game. This afternoon practice was confined to running through signals for about half an hour. Larson was not out and Moffatt went in at right half.

Tomorrow afternoon will witness the beginning of what is predicted to be the hardest ten days' work ever given a Wisconsin team. Within the next week and a half Coach King as the task of developing a system of defense. Thus far in the season his efforts have been directed toward perfecting a fast, aggressive offense, with to result that hitherto the back with to result that hitherto the back resist it.

From now on the scrubs will be given the ball most of the time and the regulars will be kept busy defending their goal. The second team is made up of a likely lot of men, who are capable of holding the varsity in good shape. An attempt will be made to get as many as possible of the old varsity players to return and aid in developing the team for the big contest of the season.

CROKER IN NO HURRY

He Will Leave New York in a Few Days, But Will Still Hold Tammany Reins.

New York, Nov. 7.—In the democratic club today after making a general denial of his intention to give up the leadership of Tammany, Croker said: "When I go away Mr. Carroll will be in charge; that is all there is to be said. Personally, I don't see much use of a leader. There is no patronage and there is little to be done for the next two years but keep the organization together and prepare for the fight then. The state election will be held next fall but that is a year away."

"I am going away in three or four days, where, I don't know. Nobody who wishes can go along. I don't see any reason for it being of interest. There will not be anything to say or do. The republicans have all that to do."

LI HUNG CHANG DIES AT PEKIN

Famous Chinese Soldier, Statesman and Diplomat, Has Passed Away.

THE ENDEXPECTED

He Was of Great Service to the Celestial Empire, for Half a Century.

WAS FOR PROGRESS

Pekin, Nov. 7, 11:15 a. m.—Li Hung Chang died at eleven o'clock this (Thursday) forenoon.

Li Hung Chang served China as a soldier, a statesman, and a diplomat. From a humble place he rose to the highest rank, and he was almost the only great Chinese who had attained a world-wide reputation.

The death of Li Hung Chang was attended by remarkable scenes. The court yard of his yamen was crowded during the last moment, with friends and servants who wailed wildly. The burial clothes have already been put

LI HUNG CHANG.

The courtyard of the yamen is filled with life-sized paper horses and chairs with coolie bearers, which his friends are sending in accordance with Chinese customs, to be buried when he dies in order to carry his soul to Heaven.

Troops Are On Guard
To guard against a possible anti-foreign demonstration the Chinese generals have disposed of their troops about the city in such a way as to command the situation. Trouble, however, is extremely improbable. The wife of Earl Li and his two sons and daughters are with him. They are greatly distressed. Chinese Officials through the yamen.

Telegrams have been sent summoning Prince Ching, who is now on his way to meet the court, and Chou Fu, provincial treasurer, from Pao Ting Fu. The former will assume general charge of the governmental affairs and the latter will act as governor of Chi Li until Li Hung Chang's successor in that office, who will probably be Yuan Shi Kai, is appointed.

Great Service to China
Earl Li was born—some biographers say that on Feb. 16, 1822, others say on Feb. 11, 1822. Between that time and the day of his death he had been at different times the governor of cities, commander-in-chief of the Imperial armies, Viceroy of most of the great provinces, Grand Chancellor and Prime Minister. He negotiated most of the modern treaties between China and the western powers. He did much to advance the progress of civilization in China. He was liberal minded—from a Chinese standpoint. He was reputed to be immensely wealthy, owning most of the railways, telegraphs and public works, as well as great plantations, mines and factories.

Put Down Rebellion
Li Hung Chang first attained prominence in China during the Tai-Ping rebellion, which in 1850 began in the southern province and spread so rapidly that the city of Peking was itself threatened.

Li Hung Chang came out of the war in 1865 a provincial governor, with a high reputation in Chinese eyes for administrative skill. He had been fortunate in having nothing to do actively with the war with France and England, which ended in the allies, 180,000 strong, taking Tientsin and Peking and exacting a large indemnity from the helpless rulers.

In 1870 Earl Li was promoted to be Viceroy of the Province of Pe-Chi-Li in which are situated the capital of Peking and its port, Tien-Tsin. For twenty-five years Li Hung Chang held sway at Tien Tsin, and in this quarter of a century he gave to China practically all of what he gave to civilization China possesses.

Journeys Round the World
In 1869 Earl Li was again in favor with the Emperor, and was sent to St. Petersburg as China's representative at the coronation of the Czar, thus beginning his famous tour of the world. He visited Germany, The Hague, Brussels, and Paris after leaving St. Petersburg. He then crossed the Atlantic, coming to the United States, returning home after a tour of the continent.

WOMEN OF INDIA ARE IN DARKNESS

NOTABLE ADDRESS BY MRS. DENNING LAST EVENING.

Closing Session of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church in the Janesville District—Vivid Description of Mission Work in the Far East.

The twenty-eight annual convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Janesville district, which has been a most successful and delightful meeting, closed with an interesting session at the First M. E. church last evening. There was a fair sized audience present and Mrs. E. S. McChesney, the newly elected president of the district society was the presiding officer.

The opening exercises were conducted by the Rev. James Churm, pastor of the First M. E. church, and consisted of singing, prayer and the reading of a portion of Scripture emphasizing the fact that God is no respecter of persons.

The large chorus choir of the First M. E. church with Miss Elva Crawford at the organ then sang an inspiring anthem, "Thy Radiant Glories Shine" by E. K. Hoyer.

Address by Mrs. Denning
Mrs. Denning, a returned missionary from India, was then introduced and for over an hour she entertained the audience with a vivid description of the conditions in India which make missionary work so much needed. The people of this country have two great reasons for working for foreign missions. First, Christians have Christ's command and second, foreign missions came to our own ancestors and through them we have been benefited. People who do not believe in foreign missions should not remain in this country whose foundation depended so largely on foreign missionaries but should go to the countries where they don't send out missionaries.

Americans are not free from all traces of heathen ancestry. The superstition regarding thirteen at a table and the beginning of work on Friday and others are relics of heathendom. A great traveler once said that it would take the missionaries three hundred years to thoroughly Christianize India. That was good news for we have been under the influence of the gospel for nineteen centuries and are not thoroughly Christianized yet with our saloons and other evil institutions. Some people argue that England should legislate against the pernicious customs in India, but these customs can only be upset through the missionaries and not by law.

The Women of India
After this introduction Mrs. Denning spoke of the women of India and the pitiful conditions under which they drag out their existence. There are three classes of women, the first, who never remember seeing the face of any man except their husband and sons, being perfect and sure of Heaven. The second class have seen husbands, sons, father, brothers and nephews and have a fair chance of Heaven, but there is no hope for the shameless third class who have looked on men indiscriminately. The life of the high caste Indian woman is spent in seclusion. The Mohammedans brought the purdah system, that of keeping their women behind a curtain, into India and the Hindoos adopted it. The Mohammedans in turn adopted the caste system making it a crime for a woman to marry out of her caste and thus both Hindoos and Mohammedans are worse than either would be alone. As in all slavery, the burden falls heaviest on the women.

Married Before Twelve
If a girl goes over the age of twelve years without being married, the whole family loses caste and is ostracized, the worst degradation that can befall a family in India. As a girl cannot marry out of her own caste, many times the father sells her to an old man, who already has a large number of wives, to save the family from disgrace. This accounts for the large number of child widows in India. After a woman becomes a child widow there is never a day of joy left to live for.

It is the religious belief of the country that if she had been a good woman she would have died before her husband. The fact that he is taken first is proof that she is vile, and the wrath of the gods has visited her. Nothing is too terrible for the relatives to inflict upon her. As an illustration, one child eleven years old, who had been seven years a widow, came to the mission for refuge.

Her body was completely covered with little scars where infuriated relatives had pinched out small portions of flesh. Child widows are restricted to one meal a day and are never allowed to wear ornaments because they are a sign of a respectable position. There are no words to tell of the horrible condition of the Hindu widows of whom there are 21 million.

Live in Seclusion
The high caste Hindoo and Mohammedan women live in seclusion in small rooms in the back of the house facing on a miserable courtyard with mud walls and floors and in which are kept goats, chickens and buffaloes. Each room is devoted to a family. The men's departments are in the front of the house and they have chairs and other luxuries. In spite of the wretchedness of their condition there are many lovely women in India. Many of them are Christians and have destroyed their idols but they cannot be counted converts until they have been baptized.

This means that they must go out of their home and meet a strange man and consequently be cast off by their families. If they could be baptized in their own homes by a woman, many of them would do so and the question of ordaining women for this work is being agitated quite a little. Americans cannot realize what an Indian woman must give up and endure to become baptized under present conditions.

One of them, Soobongam, a convert of Braman, was persecuted and despoiled and her relatives even celebrated her funeral and burned an image of her and today she is going about barefooted in Madras, teaching the villagers. Another, Pundit Ramabai, by her superior business ability conducts an institution by which 200 child widows are supported. During the famine two years ago she cared for 1,800 famine girls in addition to this.

The women of India live without opportunity, without freedom, in literal and spiritual darkness, but the houses are opening more and more to the influences of Christianity. The men do not want their women to go out from their homes but they do want them to act like Christians. In some homes worship is held, the minister preaching on the other side of the purdah from his audience of women.

Address by Mrs. L. N. Wheeler
Mrs. L. N. Wheeler, of Lake Mills, who is also a returned missionary, told how the Wisconsin conference took the support of fifteen child widows, Janesville district assuming the support of one. The audience was asked to assist financially and a collection was taken.

Mrs. Webster Millar, of Evansville read the report of the resolutions committee, which included the endorsement of the missionary methods now used and of the work of the W. C. T. U. and a resolution thanking the First M. E. church and the people of Janesville for the welcome and entertainment given the convention.

After singing the Rev. W. F. Bosworth, of Beloit, offered the closing prayer and pronounced the benediction.

KNOWS NO DISTINCTION.

Rich and Poor Alike Suffer From Catarrh in This Climate.

All observant physicians have noticed the enormous increase in catarrhal diseases in recent years, and the most liberal and enlightened have cheerfully given their approval to the new internal remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as the most successful and by far the safest remedy for catarrh yet produced.

One well known catarrh specialist, as soon as he had made a thorough test of this preparation discarded inhalers, washes and sprays, and now depends entirely on Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in treating catarrh, whether in the head, throat or stomach.

Dr. Riddell says: "In patients who had lost the sense of smell entirely and even where the hearing has begun to be affected from catarrh, I have had fine results after only a few weeks' use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. I can only explain their action on the theory that the cleansing and antiseptic properties of the tablets destroy the catarrhal germs wherever found, because I have found the tablets equally valuable in catarrh of the throat and stomach as in nasal catarrh."

Dr. Estabrook says, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are especially useful in nasal catarrh and catarrh of the throat, clearing the membranes of mucous and speedily overcoming the hacking, coughing and expectorating.

Any sufferer from catarrh will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets will give immediate relief, and being in tablet form, and pleasant to the taste, are convenient and always ready for use, as they can be carried in the pocket and used at any time as they contain no poisonous drugs, but only the cleansing, antiseptic properties of Eucalyptus bark, Gualacel, blood root and hydrastin.

All druggists sell the tablets at 50 cents for complete treatment.

Rev. Father Lillis, of Platteville, was the guest of relatives in this city yesterday.

SOCIAL EVENT OF SOME PRETENSIONS

Mrs. Austin E. Burpee and Mrs. Victor P. Richardson Entertain Their Lady Friends.

The gracious hospitality of Mrs. Austin E. Burpee and Mrs. Victor P. Richardson gave pleasure to about eighty of their lady friends last evening and the five o'clock tea given at the home of Mrs. Richardson, 101 St. Lawrence place, was one of the happiest and most delightfully informal social events which this season is apt to see.

Although it was distinctly a ladies' company, one guest who had no claim to femininity assembled with the others and was made quite the guest of honor. The gentleman, who enjoyed such an unusual privilege was J. D. King, inspector of the Spokane postal district, and for many years a resident of this city where he grew to manhood. The majority of the ladies present knew Mr. King well and many of them were warm personal friends of his.

His being present at the party gave opportunity for many pleasant meetings which doubtless would not have occurred otherwise and the guests were very grateful to their hostesses for the opportunity of greeting Mr. King. Another guest whom old friends were delighted to meet was Mrs. Gertrude McKee Barber, of Rockford, Ill., formerly of this city.

As the guests assembled they were met at the door by Miss Emma Richardson and later were received by the hostesses who stood in the doorway to the parlors. The spacious rooms, with their handsome and artistic furnishings, were not elaborately decorated but from the corners great long stemmed chrysanthemums nodded their graceful heads, some of the choicest blossoms being on potted plants while others were grouped in vases, making a most effective decoration. Bouquets of fragrant carnations also added their beauty.

As soon as the greetings were welcome were over, an elegant three course supper was prettily served at daintily laid tables, the hostesses being assisted in serving by Mesdames G. M. McKee, D. W. Watt, Hamilton Richardson, Jr., Edward E. Spaulding and Misses Sarah Richardson, Emma Richardson, Kate Fifeid, Josephine Carlo and Marcia Jackman.

The entire party was characterized by a perfect lack of formality and there was no set form of entertainment for the evening. After tea every one found pleasure according to their own inclinations in playing whist or euchre or in social conversation and there were many genuine old-fashioned visits which will be remembered for many days to come by those who participated in them. There was a sincerity in the enjoyment of the evening seldom seen in the world of society and many of the guests were reluctant to leave the pleasant evening behind when the time for good-nights came.

Saturday evening Mrs. Richardson's home will be the scene of another delightful social gathering. The occasion will be a six o'clock tea and the hostesses will be Mrs. Victor P. Richardson and Miss Sarah Richardson.

Milwaukee teachers and school board favor the vertical system of writing and that has been adopted for the coming year with the probability that it will be made a permanent feature.

A number of La Crosse boys who have been destroying railroad property and throwing stones through car windows have been sent to jail to serve sentences ranging from ten to thirty days.

The corn and lumber vessels that cleared from and arrived at Ashland during the season closing Oct. 31, numbered 2,126. The coal receipts at that port were 55,000 tons short of last year's figures.

The Green Bay board of education has passed a resolution against the playing of a game of football between the east and west high schools on account of the feeling between the friends of the respective institutions.

An attempt was made to assassinate Fred Brown, a farmer residing near Stevens Point, Saturday night. While sitting near a window, reading, a shot was fired through the window, shattering his jaw. His condition is critical. There is no clue to the would-be murderer.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Barbara Fretanie," one of the greatest dramatic triumphs this country has seen in recent years, will be presented at the Myers Grand on Friday, Nov. 8. Clyde Fitch wrote the play around the simple incident suggested by Whittier's famous poem so familiar to every child in school and it is never lost sight of in the dramatization which has its climax when Barbara, a young Southern girl in the play, waves the stars and stripes in the faces of Stonewall Jackson's marching troops. The loyal southern maid will be played by Miss Frances Gaunt, and it is promised that the presentation will be elaborate.

There is always one thing about a production of "Faust"—the beautiful dialogue alone is worth the money. Lewis Morrison's "Faust" comes to this city in the near future with a splendid new equipment.

The Kindorome Show, with its stupendous array of moving pictures, gives an entertainment far more diversified than any farce comedy or dramatic organization on the road. As a newspaper critic, in one of the cities recently visited this attraction, remarked, there is more laughter, general interest and genuine enjoyment throughout the show than it has ever before been my good fortune to witness. The Kindorome Show comes to the Myers Grand for three nights, commencing Thursday, Nov. 14. Popular prices will prevail with Saturday matinee.

Labor Mass Meeting

A labor mass meeting will be held this evening at Assembly hall. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Federal Labor Union. General labor topics will be taken up and discussed. Some of the stone cutters employed in the city hall will address the audience. It is hoped that every non-union man in the city will attend the meeting and get a good understanding of the labor questions of the hour.

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood, and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly, itchy, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and to strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Wolter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

STORIES OF TEXAS DUCK HUNTERS

From the Lone Star State Show That the Waterfowl Are Plenty in That Section.

Duck hunters who are complaining of the scarcity of sport in this section of the country should make arrangements to go to Texas for their shooting. If the stories told by the Galveston Daily News are anywhere near the truth it must be an easy matter for any one with any experience as a duck hunter to kill a back load of ducks in a short time at the shooting resorts of Texas. The following are some of the statements made regarding big shots: "The Sabine market is being supplied with ducks, and they are plump and juicy, having fed and fattened in the rice fields all along the bayous to the north and west of the city. Several years ago, when driving the mail and passenger stage between Sabine and Galveston, on his return home one afternoon Joe Marty killed 263 ducks in one of the lakes along the route in two hours and fifteen minutes from the time he began shooting. A. H. Best, who is in the hunting business at Sabine, last season killed sixty-eight ducks in one hour and twenty minutes, all being wing shots. Ben F. Johnson, county commissioner from that precinct, killed a like number at one discharge of a double-barrelled gun. Henry Townsend killed sixty-three mallards that he got at the discharge of a double-barrelled gun."

THE LIVER.

Continually Changing Its Position in its Auxiliary Formation of the Blood.

Every drop of blood that flows through our veins passes through the liver in its formation. Any habit or work that tends to check the circulation of the blood in its passage through the liver, materially affects the health. Sewing, leaning forward at the desk, tight lacing, and all sedentary habits retard the circulation of the blood through the liver. The first symptoms of a disordered liver are flushed cheeks, the complexion becomes dark, showing a congested condition of the circulation. The pressure on the nerves is increased, the great nerve center, the brain, responds with violent headache. Other symptoms are dizziness, bad breath, coated tongue, pain above the eyes and in the rear and lower part of the head and neck, dull and tired feeling. The complexion gradually becomes sallow and yellow, and sometimes covered with blotches, which are typical evidences of torpid liver and sluggish bowels.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and Herb Laxative Compound acts gently on the liver, increasing its activity in its formation of the blood, giving a bright, clear complexion, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and all the causes of a torpid liver and sluggish bowels. Pleasant to the taste, mild in its action and soothing in its effects. 50c and $1 bottles. Your druggist sells it. Sample bottle and book free. Pepsin Syrup Company, Monticello, Ill.

Miners' Strike Ordered.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 7.—An order calling a strike at the eight collieries of the Temple Iron company has been issued from the headquarters of district No. 1, United Mine Workers of America. The strike order is caused by the refusal of the Temple company to reinstate certain men who had been discharged by the company. The eight collieries operated by the Temple Iron company are located in Lackawanna and Luzerne counties, and employ about four thousand men and boys. The company has closed down the Mount Lookout, Harry E., and Forty Fort collieries, supposedly in anticipation of the strike. It is expected the other collieries will be closed down tomorrow. The company officials refuse to make any statement.

Collision in Detroit River.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7.—The car ferry Landsdowne collided with the schooner Sophia Minch in the Detroit river, just off the foot of Woodward avenue, at 3 o'clock.

The bow of the Minch was crushed in for about thirty-five feet and the forward deck was badly broken. The damage was mostly above the water line. The Minch was towed to a dock by the mailboat and is now in the Detroit drydock for repairs.

Murder in Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Ernest Merkt, an Italian, was found dying in an alley alongside Frank Murphy's saloon on Alabama street and died before an ambulance arrived. Murphy and a dozen other men who were about the place are under arrest as witnesses. Merkt apparently had been kicked and beaten to death.

Arrested 130 Times.

Bourbon, Ind., Nov. 7.—Isaac Crowley of Warsaw was arrested for the 130th time on the charge of drunkenness and placed in the county jail to work out the amount of the fine, $18.50. Crowley is 55 years old, and has spent three-fourths of his time in jail for the past twelve years serving out fines for being drunk.

LATER ELECTION RETURNS

Results Given in the Doubtful States.

Labor Majorities Promised.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 7.—Mayor-Elect Schmitz has issued the following statement: "I wish to say to the merchants and financiers of the city that they need entertain no fears whatever of any action upon my part tending to inaugurate a radical or revolutionary policy of municipal government. Invested capital will be given the consideration it deserves, and it will be my aim to see that business interests suffer nothing. I will consider all classes and try to harmonize all interests which stand for the upbuilding of San Francisco." The success of the union labor party brings a new and important factor into California politics. The union labor party was organized as a result of the strike of teamsters, stevedores, marine firemen and other water-front employees last summer.

Vote in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7.—Practically complete returns from the state give Harris (rep.), for state treasurer, 52,360 plurality, and Potter (rep.), for supreme court judge, 47,939 plurality. The official totals from the new counties in which the vote is incomplete will not materially alter the foregoing pluralities.

Cummins' Plurality Is $8,213.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 7.—The returns from nearly every county in Iowa, and estimates on others, make Cummins' plurality in the state $8,213. The prohibition vote was about 17,500, estimated from returns received from about half the counties.

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—The Republicans have elected twenty-one Senators and sixty-eight Representatives, the Democrats twelve Senators and forty-two members of the House, giving the Republicans a majority of thirty-five on joint ballot for the election of a United States Senator, thus insuring another term for Senator Foraker. Returns from eighty-seven counties out of the eighty-eight of this state give Nash a plurality over Kilbourne of 66,464.

Election Results Please Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—President Roosevelt was delighted with the great victory over Tammany in New York and so expressed himself to many public men who called upon him.

Results Mixed in Colorado.

Denver, Nov. 7.—In the election of county officers in Colorado the Republicans won in most of the large counties except Arapahoe.

Republican plurality in Nebraska was 13,000.

Republican plurality in Rhode Island was 6,308.

MCKINLEY MEMORIAL OFFERING

The following is the form of subscription blanks sent out by the National Memorial association.

The undersigned, residents of

State of Wisconsin, hereby subscribe

the sum set opposite our names for the purpose of erecting a suitable memorial to the memory of our late lamented president, William McKinley, in accordance with the plans of the McKinley National Memorial association which contemplates a monument at Canton, and a suitable memorial at Washington.

REPUBLICAN VICTORIES.

The result of last Tuesday's election indicate that the republican party has lost none of its vitality and old time energy. Which the contest in New York City was not strictly political. Seth Lowe, the successful candidate for mayor, received the united support of the republican party. It was a victory for law and order, and the party is closely allied with these principles.

In Ohio, Iowa, Massachusetts, Rhode

Island, Pennsylvania, New Jersey,

Connecticut and Nebraska, it was republican day. In the south the colored vote was largely disfranchised.

While the contest in the several states may not be regarded as significant, it will be remembered that it is an off-year, with no special issue, except the endorsement of the administration party. It is gratifying to know that the people are not restless, and desirous for a change. The republican party is the party of progress, and the fact that prosperity follows party success, is not a matter of chance. Public sentiment is with the party and public confidence is not only enjoyed, but freely expressed.

The outlook is promising and there is every reason why Wisconsin should get into line and work for harmony and continued success.

RECIPROCITY PURELY PRACTI-

CAL.

Reciprocity is a purely practical matter and will not be adopted as a policy of legislation except on practical considerations. It will be adopted, if at all, just as the policy of protection was adopted,

because the Americans that form public opinion think it for their material interests. Minn. Tribune.

That is the principle in a nutshell.

The question is not political, and should not be so considered. It is intensely practical, like every other business proposition. The same principles apply to international trade, that apply to private business, and every unprejudiced mind recognizes this fact.

A manufacturer or a wholesale merchant looks after the interests of the individual customer. He not only attempts to convince him that he has bargains for him, but he studies conditions, and cultivates his good will, and the most friendly trade relations, if he is in an agricultural district, and he can use any of his commodities to advantage, he is always glad to trade with him and give him the full benefits of a good market.

The nation, not as a nation, but through its industrial and commmercial representatives, is cultivating trade in other countries with marked success. Every sensible business man knows that if this foreign trade is held, that the same principles must apply that govern in business everywhere.

When the small manufacturers are crowded out, as they must be in time, prices will advance, yet with improved methods of production and foreign competition, prices are bound to remain low.

The supply of salt is far in excess of the demand, and the cost of producing it has been reduced to a science. The commodity is so generally used, that low prices has to do with the greatest good to the greatest number, and the trust, with its capital and improved equipment, is crowding out competition just as improved machinery in almost every department is revolutionizing the labor world. These conditions are unfortunate for localities, and for individuals interested, but the progress is always a forced march and the survival of the fittest is the law that governs.

The great sugar combine is attempting just now to drive out competition by employing the same methods, and while the sugar trust is denounced and made the butt of all sorts of anathemas, the fact remains that the people, the consumers, have never bought sugar

so low as since the market was controlled by the combinations.

It may be argued that the principle is wrong, and that the small manufacturers should be protected. The same argument would put the country back a century to the days of teams and stage coaches.

Inventive genius has always worked hardship to classes, and the same genius applied to business methods is causing disturbance and hardship today in lines of trade that are affected.

Combinations of either capital or labor cannot be controlled by law, supply and demand govern

in both markets, and will continue to govern. The revolutions caused by these combines are never pleasant to contemplate, but they are not amenable to law. The salt industry happens to be in the path of revolution, and small producers suffer in consequence.

Many trades that flourished

a few years ago are crowded out of existence, through no fault of the individual artisan or the craft

he represented. Time, and time alone, adjusts, and in the final settlement, the great mass of humanity is benefited.

Wisconsin editors became so enthusiastic over Waukesha water, that they attended a colored

Methodist church in New Orleans

last Sunday. One old mammy became so happy over the crowd of Badger pen-wielders, that she shouted "Glory!" and fell over in a dead faint into the arms of a dignified editor from the northern part of the state. The life of a journalist is not all sunshine.

A man in the town of Oregon claims to have cured himself of dyspepsia by eating sand—plain, ordinary, every-day sand. There are plenty of people who would be free from indigestion and many of the ills of life, if they would put a little more sand into every-day work of life.

Dr. Rodermund, of small pox fame, added to his notoriety

recently by attacking the state board of health. He spoke to an audience at Little Chute, where small pox is raging as an epidemic. Fifty cases are reported, and the erratic Appleton doctor, appears to be in his element.

Another judgment against the city is a reminder that the sidewalk ordinance should be rigidly enforced. Jansville appears to be a mark for this class of suits.

If the city was as negligent as Milwaukee and some of the larger cities, bankruptcy would result in five years.

France is likely to make life interesting for Turkey. If England does not interfere, the Ottoman empire will have other business besides Miss

Stone's ransom to engage attention.

With the fog in Great Britain and the war in South Africa,

England is entitled to sympathy.

Seventeen million pieces of mail matter were so poorly addressed last year that delivery was impossible, and yet vertical penmanship is in its infancy. When the fad is fully established, the postal bureau will be a guessing machine, pure and simple.

Between football, duck

shooting and deer hunting,

there promises to be an epidemic of funerals in Wisconsin during the month of November.

The "organ" grinder of Milwaukee is attempting to make out that the officers of the republican league are deploring the defeat of Tammany. Another harmony straw.

WISCONSIN LEAF IN GOOD DEMAND

ALL OF 1901 TOBACCO CROP WILL BRING FAIR PRICE.

Many Farmers Find Their Product to Be Curing Out Much Beyond Expectations—Weather of the Last Few Weeks Has Been Favorable to Handling Crop.

Wisconsin tobacco is in good demand in the eastern markets and all of the 1901 crop that comes through the curing process all right will be bought at a good figure. In many sections the farmers report their crops as curing out beyond their expectations. The weather of the last few weeks has been favorable to the curing of the leaf, so that it was not much affected by the hard freeze of last week.

Quite a number of crops have been picked up by local dealers who are taking a chance that it will come through the curing process in fair shape. A number of sales have been made in Magnolia and Center to buyers at from 10 to 12 cents. This would indicate that the farmer that has a fair crop would get a good price for it.

Although a large quantity of 1900 Wisconsin was sold in New York last week, very little has been shipped out of storage in the local houses. Most of the New York sales were made on sample and very little of the tobacco was actually moved.

Some little trading is going on among the local dealers, who are looking for some particular grade of goods to fill a special order, but outside of that it is very quiet.

The Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter is speaking of what constitutes damaged tobacco says:

"It would probably be to the advantage of both the grower and dealer in tobacco to have defined more definitely what constitutes damaged tobacco. The experience of the last delivery season when so much trouble and litigation developed is sufficient reason for this action. It is safe to say that no rules laid down by a united action of the dealers can deprive any one of his rights which a court of law will protect, but at the same time if it can be mutually agreed what shall constitute damaged tobacco there would be less trouble and litigation in the future."

"When this understanding is accomplished then a uniform contract for all dealers to use would simplify matters greatly. With this end in view the meeting endorsed the employment of a uniform contract in buying hereafter. It should be inserted however that this contract be as free from verbiage as possible, so plain that all can understand, and fair in its provisions to all parties. After the growers have become acquainted with what they are expected to sign there would be less difficulty in securing their signatures to the contract than is now experienced, if all buyers used the same form of instrument."

It was Wisconsin's turn in the leaf market last week. Not less, and probably much more, than ten thousand boxes of 1900 Wisconsin moved into consumption from the packers' hands, and they were sold in blocks of from one to three thousand cases, and they were bought, with a single exception of a thousand cases, by manufacturers. A Philadelphia house that stands in the front rank of Wisconsin packers sold over five thousand boxes to a manufacturer; and a New York house sold three thousand boxes to a manufacturer; one thousand boxes were sold to a jobber and the balance went off in smaller lots.

The prices naturally varied, but it can safely be stated that the bulk sold above 16c. If manufacturers are commencing to buy binder leaf in such huge blocks at such high prices a few things are proved thereby, viz., (1) The prospective scarcity of binder leaf; (2) the hopelessness of waiting for a fall in prices, and, (3) that not all manufacturers are being scared out of business. If there is one thing certain as far as the future is concerned, it is a veritable famine in binder leaf, and those who are holding back now in supplying themselves for the needs of two years will not only have to pay three, four and probably as high as five cents more for Wisconsin a few months hence, but it will be positively impossible for them to get any at all at any price.

Some manufacturers are commencing to switch off and buy Onondaga for binders but there is not enough of state seed to go around even for the smaller manufacturers, and the price for it is bound to go up, too, under the prevailing conditions. No manufacturer, therefore can make a safer investment than in supplying himself with his binder stock now for a year at least, if not two years.—U. S. Tobacco Journal.

Milwaukee Trade Notes
There seems to be more or less of a pessimistic feeling on the part of leaf jobbers when expressing their opinion on trade. Business has not picked up materially and is going along at rather a slow pace. The high prices of tobacco are to blame, according to the expressions of most of the jobbers. Collections are inclined to be slow.

St. Louis Trade Notes
The leaf tobacco trade shows a falling off in volume, though the earlier part of the month trade was so satisfactory as to offset the present lull. A considerable number of orders are being booked for future delivery, but it is hard to make sales for immediate shipment. Every leaf house has a full complement of travelers out, and naturally there should be something doing. Jobbers of tobacco and cigars report business as satisfactory, and have no complaints to enter.

This years Wisconsin crop, says the Tobacco Journal is curling down into desirable colors and satisfactory condition, giving promise of more good tobacco than a short time before the harvest. In spite of the unfavorable weather of the growing season, much good tobacco will be found among the crops. Very little buying has been done the past month. Old tobacco is in great demand, but there is very little of it and what there is is held at high prices, higher than what buyers are willing to pay now but will probably be glad to later on. Wisconsin tobacco in eastern markets has advanced several cents per pound in value and the market is exceedingly stiff. The annual reports as to the acreage of the state, compiled from assessors' reports, are estimates gathered during May of what the acreage of tobacco was planned for by growers. The estimates are as follows:

The Little Lady—Her Book.

There is a whole lot of happiness in "The Little Lady—Her Book." It is all about the Little Lady who lives in the Little House of Many Windows, and it has in it all the good stories and good times that made her happy. It takes the Little Lady from city to country and back again, and tells all that she did, and said, and how at last she started to school "with another little boy named Willie," and what happened then.

Mr. Palmer has written much that has given pleasure to a host of young people, but nothing that has given more pleasure than will "The Little Lady—Her Book." He is a born story teller, and each creation of his fancy contains an equation of reality clothed in apt and dainty expression. He has the power of making a scene live before you in half a dozen sentences; and scattered through the book are exquisite bits, such as this, from "In the Moonlight Fields:"

"You have to go down through the mullen patch, and then climb the rail fence. A Little Lady like you could squeeze through quite low down, where there is a crooked rail that makes a wide opening. Then after you get past he briars in the fence corner, you see a path, but mustn't take it. You must cross the path, and then there is a little plowed place with some old apple trees, and along the edge there is milk weed—two kinds—red and pink. That isn't the place, either. You have to go down another hill first, until you can't see the house or even the barn; and there is a little pond with the moon in it and two stars."

"Why," says the Little Lady, "that's just the place where we played war, just 'zackly."

And so the story goes, page after page; and whether it be the stories that the Big Man tells, or the songs that he sings to the Little Lady; their excursions to the beach or to the Far Lands of Trees and Fields, or the Little Lady's quaint replies, there is a fascination in it all from which the reader cannot escape be he child or adult. Delightful touches of humor flash forth here and there and give an added charm to the book. The illustrations clearly and beautifully interpret the author's meaning, and add to our love for the charming "Little Lady" the sympathetic "Big Man" and the "Little Woman" all of whom, if we mistake not, are drawn from life.—Henry Altman Company, Philadelphia.

VERA NOLAN TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL

Little Vera Nolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Nolan, who has been critically ill for several days past, was moved this morning from the home of her parents, 201 Prospect avenue to the Palmer memorial hospital where an operation will be performed tomorrow morning. The child's condition is very serious and there are grave doubts concerning her recovery. An infection of the bone at the left knee has caused peritonitis, or inflammation of the covering of the bone. Whether the inflammation has extended deeper than the surface of the bone or not the physicians are unable to determine until the operation is performed. The pus has gathered in two places, one near the left ankle and one near the left shoulder and an incision will be made at both places. The method of further treatment for the case will be determined by what the physicians discover tomorrow. The child suffers intense pain in spite of the fact that the best of care is being given her. Dr. Q. O. Sutherland is the attending physician and he is being assisted in consultation by Dr. W. H. Palmer and Dr. James Gibson.

Death of "Buffalo" Jones.
 Salina, Kan., Nov. 7.—C. J. Jones, known throughout the country as "Buffalo" Jones, died here at the age of 71 years. He was one of the most picturesque characters in all the West, and few men so impressed themselves upon the earlier life of the state. "Buffalo" Jones came to Kansas from Illinois in 1866, when the country was wild with Indians. He was a native of Tazewell county, and was for a short time a classmate of former Governor Joseph W. Eiler at Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington. He always was dominated by an adventurous spirit, even as a boy. He exercised a peculiar power over wild animals, birds and reptiles.

Declares Chanler Is Sane.
 Richmond, Va., Nov. 7.—The Albemarle County Court heard the petition to appoint a committee for John Armstrong Chanler, the divorced husband of Amelle Hives, the Princess Troubetzkoy, the allegation being that Chanler is insane. After examining a number of witnesses the court refused the petition, holding that nowhere did the testimony show insanity. This decision settled the question of Chanler's ability to manage his own property interests in Virginia, which will now be turned over to him.

SCHLEY'S FAME IS FIXED

Logic and Eloquence of Closing Address Sway Court.

RAYNER'S GLOWING SPEECH.

Vindication of Commander of the Brooklyn Made to Appear Convincing and Incontrovertible—Spectators Applaud at Close of the Address.

Washington, Nov. 7.—A scene of dramatic intensity closed the day's proceedings of the Schley court of inquiry. General Isidore Rayner, chief counsel for Admiral Schley, had just finished his closing argument, which was a superb combination of logic and eloquence. His peroration was a splendid tribute to the gallant sailor whose professional honor he has sought to defend. In vivid colors he painted the picture of the Brooklyn, with Commodore Schley on the bridge, fighting the entire Spanish fleet until the Oregon appeared out of the smoke. The thunders of the Brooklyn, music for the ears of his countrymen, he said, aroused Admiral Schley's envious foes. He pictured the victorious sailor suffering as few have suffered for three long years, while the fires of persecution leaped around him, and now awaiting the hour of his vindication in the verdict of the court.

Closes with Elongated Force.
 "And when it comes," he concluded, "he can, from the high and exalted position that he occupies, look down upon his traducers and maligners and with excellent pride exclaim: 'I care not for the venomous gossip of clubs, drawing-rooms and cliques and the poisoned shafts of envy and of malice. I await, under the guidance of Divine Providence, the verdict of posterity.' Before the closing sentence had been completely spoken the vast throng of spectators began to applaud without restraint. Admiral Schley, his eyes wet with tears, seized General Rayner's hand and wrung it with impetuous gratitude. The three admirals comprising the court came around from behind the big desk, where they have sat so patiently for nearly two months, and one after another cordially shook hands with General Rayner. Admiral Benham was the first to extend congratulations to the Maryland lawyer. Admiral Dewey was close behind him.

Dewey Gives Due Praise.
 "You made a splendid argument," was the greeting of the admiral of the navy. Admiral Ramsey hung behind long enough to place both hands upon the shoulders of Admiral Schley, who was about to leave the room, and say something in a kindly tone that caused the distinguished applicant to smile. Then Admiral Ramsey went over and also shook hands with General Rayner.

Shows Lack of Information.
 In connection with the events at Santiago following the first arrival of the fleet at a point to the southward of that port General Rayner also made a strong point upon the failure of Captains Wise and Jewell to communicate the information in their possession to Schley. The trend of General Rayner's argument throughout was that Schley was the victim of indifference or carelessness or wilful neglect on the part of subordinates who failed to perform specific duties that had been imposed upon them by Sampson or the Navy Department. Judge Advocate Lently will close for the department.

Capt. Parker's Address.
 Captain Parker maintained that the blockade of Santiago was effective. He defended Commodore Schley's reconnaissance of May 31, saying he had acted wisely in determining the actual conditions. In this line of policy he Nobility Recommends Nervine.

The above portrait is that of Countess Mogelstid, of Chicago, Ill., whose gratitude for the benefit received from the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine prompted her to make this statement:

"It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to the very excellent merits of Dr. Miles' Nervine. Although I am past 80 years of age I find it soothes the tired brain, quiets the irritated nerves and induces restful sleep. I never feel contented without a bottle of it in the house."  CHRISTIANA MARIA, stated that Commodore Schley's conduct was paralleled by that of Admiral Dewey in Asiatic waters when the latter remained for several days in Mirs Bay. Regarding the loop made by the Brooklyn, Captain Parker declared it was the wisest movement that could have been made. All talk about the Brooklyn going to the southward he characterized as "moonshine."

 "If the Spanish gunners could have shot as the Americans did," declared Captain Parker, "Admiral Schley, instead of being on trial, as he is today, would be in a sailor's grave."

Sarcastic Reference to Evans.
 Referring to the Hodgson controversy, Captain Parker said he really believed Hodgson desired to tell the truth, but unfortunately had told a different story every time he had opened his mouth. Captain Parker said he did not know how the alleged controversy over the danger of colliding with the Texas arose, except from the story which had been told by the captain of the Iowa. The speaker was sarcastic in his allusion to Captain Evans' alleged statement regarding the damage he had done to the Spanish ships.

E. S. Theall, acting on behalf of Stanton & Campbell, who were retained by Admiral Sampson to look after the latter's interest before the court of inquiry, sent a letter to the court of inquiry protesting against the inclusion in the record of certain statements believed to reflect upon Admiral Sampson's conduct at Santiago. The letter is addressed to Admiral Dewey as president of the court.

Digests what you Eat
Dyspepsia Cure

In speaking of indigestion, Dr. Lewis says: "It is deplorable that so many hundreds of thousands of Americans suffer from indigestion. It means that the blood of the nation is becoming impure; for undigested food poisons the blood. Unless a method is devised for overcoming this malady, our race must deteriorate."
 Many persons use soda tablets to neutralize fermenting food; this only makes a chemical receptacle out of the stomach, and injures its sensitive structures. Others feed on pepsin, which is better, but not sufficient, for it digests only albuminous foods. The preparation best fitted to relieve and absolutely cure indigestion is KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. It contains every known digestant and digests every kind of food. Its use is a common sense method of treating all stomach troubles, and the results are always certain.

YOUNG MAN WHO WAS UP TO DATE

Prospective Son-in-Law breaks the News to Girl's Father and Leaves Him Gasping.

"It was settled some time ago that he was to marry my daughter," said the father of the girl of the period, "but it yet remained for the young man to get my consent it was merely a formality, however, as I had cut no figure whatever during the campaign, my girl arranging matters to suit herself without consulting me or my wishes.

"Now I remember with what trepidation I had approached my wife's father when I asked him for her hand, and I made up my mind that when that young man showed up I would have revenge, not only for what I had to pass through when I urged my suit, but for being shoved to the background during the present proceedings.

"Well, he called at my office yesterday and I told the office boy to admit him and leave us alone and see that we were not disturbed.

"Just dropped in," said he easily, declining to take a seat, "to tell you that I am going to marry your daughter the middle of next month. It will be an informal affair, so you may consider yourself invited without further notice. Good day."

"Before I could catch my breath he was gone, and when I complained to my daughter of his treatment of me, all the comfort I got was that I could consider myself fortunate in getting an invitation, as it was to be an exclusive affair."—Detroit Free Press.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled. There is no danger in giving this remedy, for it contains no opium, or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. Dr. Swallow Suspended.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 7.—Dr. Silas C. Swallow, editor of the Pennsylvania Methodist, a former candidate for state treasurer on the Prohibition ticket, received notice that he had been debarred "from all ministerial services and church privileges until the ensuing annual conference." This action was taken by a committee of twelve ministers from the Harrisburg district of the central Pennsylvania conference after a court inquiry lasting eight days in which time they investigated charges of lying brought by the Rev. C. V. Hartzell of this city. The suspension will continue until March, when the matter will be taken up at the annual conference.

Dynamite Causes a Death.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 7.—An explosion of dynamite killed one man, fatally injured another, and seriously hurt four more this afternoon on the farm of Dr. Adam Stevens, ten miles northwest of this city and near the village of Carlock. All six were professional dynamiters doing a business of clearing farms of stumps, boulders and other obstructions. They had been engaged all day on Stevens' farm and the fatal charge was to have been the last of the day.

GILJOHANN TAKES CRITICS TO TASK

State Insurance Commissioner Answers an Attack Made on Him by a New York Paper.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—(Special)—Insurance Commissioner Giljohann replies in an interview to the attack recently made upon him by the interview, a New York insurance paper, criticizing in severe terms his action in re-admitting the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association to Wisconsin shortly after he had revoked its license, also his action in licensing the Traders' Fire Insurance company of New York after his predecessor, Commissioner Fricke, had refused it admission. Commissioner Giljohann's reply shows both the motive of these criticisms, and their injustice. He says:

"I would have taken no notice of the article, were it not for the fact that a great many people do not know the mission of this so-called 'Insurance Journal', whose only motive for existence is to ruin the business of this association, and every insurance commissioner who does not assist in accomplishing this result is, in the language of this journal, unfit to hold his office.

"Before issuing a license to this company, I examined its capital stock and found it to be invested in securities as required by law; and I also checked up the books of the Traders' Lloyds as to the premium receipts in Wisconsin and required them to pay the taxes due the state on these receipts, which they complied with. The question of similarity of name was, that I could not refuse a license to a company simply because the name was similar to that of some company already licensed in the state, if it complied with the laws otherwise.

"I probably have admitted companies or associations to transact business in this state, that later have become solvent, but when they were admitted by me, they complied fully with the law in every respect and if the laws are deficient, then I am not to blame."

TOO POOR TO BUY DRINKS

Great Decrease in Sales of Liquors

Noted in Germany

Berlin, Nov. 7.—A marked reduction in the consumption of alcoholic and malt liquors in Germany is attributed to hard times.

It is estimated that never in the history of this nation have all classes been so temperate. Those who have been in the habit of drinking wine exclusively have responded to the demands of their depleted bank accounts by becoming teetotalers.

Wholesale and retail dealers join in the complaint of the hotel and cafe proprietors that many persons now regard wine as a luxury who heretofore thought it a necessity.

We are offering:

FINE ALL WOOL BOYS SUITS

Either two or three piece suits at $2.00 and..... $3 that are the talk of the town. Not common trash that looks all right, but when put to the test, easily goes to pieces; but clothing that satisfies after it's bought and paid for, that's the kind and only kind we sell.
